From the Desks of Marian and Paula

One of the caged doves has been released out into the Desert Dome! Paula and I were checking Shafi (next to the date palm) today to see if his wings were grown out, and he flew off into the desert sky! His cage will remain for a little while in case he needs somewhere safe to rest, but the door of it will be held open so he can come and go.

Also, Fernando has built a nest (!) in the Dragon Blood Tree, and likes to rest there a lot, and so Angus is also often resting in the same tree during the day.
